

“COME SEE HOW A PRIEST DIES IN BATTLE...”

“His life as a priest was short, but it was full. He crowded into six years the experience and the accomplishments of a lifetime. He did not build churches or schools. His memorial is more intangible, but more lasting – the salvaged souls of the men whom he led safely through the Valley of the Shadow. He did not grow old in the service of the church, but he served her better than most of us can ever hope to do.”

-Father Gerard Frey

BUT HE DIES NOT

The Life, Faith, and Sacrifice of FATHER JOSEPH VERBIS LAFLEUR Priest - Military Chaplain

by Peter J. Guerra & Suzanne Doré Guerra

“The story of Father J. Verbis Lafleur, priest and military chaplain, is poignantly told. He was an ordinary priest with extraordinary courage who, as a prisoner of war, ministered to the spiritual, emotional and despairing feelings of fellow prisoners under the most inhumane conditions. He died not only as a hero, but as a priest who served others compassionately to the very end.”

Most Reverend Joseph A. Fiorenza
Archbishop Emeritus, Archdiocese of Galveston-Houston

“In a time when so many, both within the Church and society, are searching for role models, the life and death of Father Verbis Lafleur provides a splendid example of courageous faith and heroic civic virtues. No doubt all who read this book will be inspired to live the Catholic faith with deeper commitment and service for the common good. A timely book about God’s timeless grace.”

Most Reverend Gregory M. Aymond
Archbishop of New Orleans
